OVERHEARD ON THE "L." SMITH—"I couldn't get my money down quick enough. It was a finest proposition ever presented to me. Think of it, man. A fine lot within one hundred feet of the ocean that you could not duplicate for $1,000 at any resort along the Jersey coast and 150 shares of stock at par, one dollar per share, the whole business for $150 and for ten dollars down and ten dollars per month, if you can't pay cash."

JONES—"That is a sound investment, old man. Shares in a real estate corporation doing a general real estate business and developing property would be a safe proposition anyway, but by getting your lot, too, you can't possibly lose money. You really make it at the start. What's the name of the corporation, and where is the property?"

SMITH—"It is the Colonial Realty Corporation, of 79 E. 42d st., and the lots are at Ocean Crest, a few miles below Point Pleasant. The property runs from ocean to bay, and they will develop it at once. As for the stock, it ought to pay to per cent, at least, because the officers are all expert real estate men and sure to make profitable investments. There is still time to get on board, although the offer is limited to a certain number of subscribers."

JONES—"I'll get aboard sure and at once. It's certainly an ironclad guarantee. It's the best proposition out."

Those who overheard think the same as Jones, and you had better join them. It will stand the closest investigation.
